TOUR

Dandenong Market is a much-loved iconic market in the heart of Dandenong. The Market is the centre of community life, and brings together more than 150 different nationalities under one roof. It's here you will find an amazing variety of fresh local produce, fruits and vegetables, spices, rices, lentils, beans and nuts, fashion, fresh flowers and plants and much more.

Dandenong Market is one of Melbourne's oldest and most established markets, opening its doors in 1866.

Like today, the Market was a popular retail hub for fresh fruit and veggies, dairy products, and a wide variety of household, craft and industrial goods and services.

Unlike today, the Market also had on offering livestock including beef and dairy cattle. The Dandenong livestock market was renowned throughout Victoria as a quality livestock sales centre. Tuesday was market day and Dandenong came alive with the bustle of livestock being herded to and from the market.

For many, Dandenong was known as "the Gateway to Gippsland": the growth and prosperity of Dandenong were closely linked to the success of the Market from the earliest days. The Market was a main contributor to economic success and social wellbeing up-to-and-including the period of World War II, after which there was enormous growth and industrial change.

The Market remains a hub in the heart of Dandenong, continuing the proud tradition and providing a unique shopping experience.
